

BRIAN KROLICKI, Director of Government Relations, PaySwag™

Brian Krolicki currently serves as Director of Government Relations at PaySwag, the first mobile platform to enhance collections efficiency through the empowerment and education of underbanked customers. Brian draws on more than three decades experience in both the private and public sectors, making him uniquely qualified to effectively assist PaySwag with their deployment goals from a public policy standpoint.

A veteran of the private banking industry and a master of municipal finance, Brian began his career on Wall Street, working with high-profile firms such as Smith Barney and Bankers Trust Company. A temporary foray into a state government role unexpectedly led to Brian's 24-year career in public service, and to four sweeping election victories to the Nevada Constitutional Offices of Lieutenant Governor and State Treasurer. Brian is the first person in Nevada history to be term-limited twice.

As Lieutenant Governor, Brian led Nevada's economic expansion efforts and spearheaded strategic legislation that prompted the state's emergence as an economic innovator and a preferred location for new and expanding businesses. Brian served as the chairman of the Nevada Commission on Economic Development and as the president of the State Senate for most of the past decade. As State Treasurer, Brian streamlined the management of Nevada's financial operations and negotiated the first upgrade to the state's credit rating in 30 years. During his tenure, Nevada became the first state treasury to receive the Certificate of Excellence in Investment Policy. Brian was also honored by the nation's municipal finance industry with the prestigious Award for Excellence in Public Finance for his pioneering efforts and advocacy on behalf of the State Debt Management Network.

Brian's natural aptitude for leadership and governance led to his management of several national associations and boards. As the unanimously elected president of the National Association of State Treasurers (NAST), Brian established and co-chaired the association's Corporate Governance Committee, which championed critical capital market and regulatory reforms with the leverage represented by the approximate $2 trillion in collective treasury assets. In 2004, Brian earned the distinction from his colleagues as the nation's Most Outstanding State Treasurer. As demonstrated by his founding of the NAST Foundation, where Brian advocated a broad range of financial awareness and education initiatives across the country, financial literacy has always been a cornerstone of his efforts.

Brian is a graduate of Stanford University and currently serves on multiple corporate and non-profit boards.
